PUBLIC ROADS

CLAIMS FOR THE ROAD DRAG

Really Holding Back Construction of Good Roads, as Many Believe No Work is Needed.

In an article on "Split Log Drag and How to Use It to Obtain Best Results," Mr. Howard H. Gross, among other things, says:

"A good road is one that is good and serviceable 365 days in the year, a road whereon one may ride or drive with pleasure or have toll without strain upon the horse, vehicle or harness."

"To do this the road must have a hard, smooth surface and offer the minimum of resistance."

"An earth road may be an excellent one today and tomorrow a very bad one. It may be a delight in June and a fright in March. Such roads have the virtue of a balky horse, they are liable to fall when most wanted."

"The extravagant claims that have been made for the road drag are really holding back the building of good roads. Many have believed that all that was required to have good roads was to go up and down a street or mud once or twice, say 'presto,' and behold a good highway. This is sheer nonsense. This loud acclaim of a 'River-to-River road,' made good in an hour or so, is a myth. This famous road was greatly improved by the dragging, but it is not a good road, and never will be until it is thoroughly drained, properly graded and has a hard, durable wearing surface placed upon it."

POOR ROADS ARE EXPENSIVE

American Farmer Pays 25 Cents Mile Per Ton for Carrying Farm Products to Market.

There are 2,100,000 miles of public roads in this country. Only 150,000 miles, or 7 per cent, are improved. All the rest can be fairly described as bad roads. The waste of our natural resources, reckoned as it is, is nothing compared to the money waste brought about by this condition of our highways.

It costs the French peasant an average of 12 cents a mile per ton to haul his produce to market. It costs the American farmer an average of 25 cents a mile per ton, or 100 per cent. more than the Frenchman. During the year 1905-1906 hauling of farm produce to shipping points amounted to between forty and forty-five million tons weight. The average haul was 9.4 miles. If the farmers could have done their hauling over French roads, instead of their own inferior ones they would have netted $35,900,000 more on their crops.

But all the hauling to shipping points is not done by farmers by any means. The interstate commerce commission tells us that in all some thing like 250,000,000 tons are hauled for shipment every year. The willingness to move this immense volume of freight over poor roads, as against good roads such as France enjoys, costs the country a colossal unnecessary $305,000,000 a year.

These figures and facts come from the office of Logan Waller Page, the United States director of public works.

BONDS IN NEW YORK STATE

Second issue of $50,000,000 Was Greatest Thing in Good Road History of Last Year.

The greatest thing in good roads history in 1912 was the action of New York in voting a second state bond issue of $50,000,000. There was some opposition to the proposition, but it went through with a good majority. New York has led all other states in road improvement. Under the act of 1906 it issued $50,000,000 worth of road bonds. This it spent at the rate of about $5,000,000 a year. With what has been spent and with contracts made the whole sum has been disposed of, and so the new $50,000,000 comes in to continue the work. These huge sums have enabled New York to more than double her mileage of improved roads and to project large plans for trunk lines. Incidentally, it means an increase in the direct tax of about $2,500,000 yearly.

HORSE TROUGH IS SANITARY

Device Shown in Illustration Will Provide Horse With Clean and Individual Fountain.

(By F. W. FITZPATRICK, in the Scientific American.)

It has been found that the horse trough has proven a prolific means of carrying infection. Hundreds of horses have taken glanders and all sorts of things via that means. Not that the horses touch the iron part of the trough and leave germs there, but simply that a healthy horse drinks immediately after a diseased one and gets the germs, spume, etc., left in the water by the other. The idea suggests itself that the horse be given a hygienic drinking fountain, as is provided for us humans. We can't expect a horse to put his mouth over a little stream shooting in the air, but the device that is roughly sketched herein will do the trick of giving the horse an individual drinking fountain. A is a drinking font of sufficient size to hold a normal drink for a horse, and set high or low as desired for checked or unchecked horses. It is set upon a standard G that serves as a waste pipe. Inside of this is a supply pipe, B and a stopper rod F. H is perforated drains around a fountain to carry off the water that is sloped over, and D is a little dog found that simply catches the waste from the overflow above. At some point near the fountain, where a horse has to place his front feet in order to drink from the fountain, would be a platform device J, not unlike a scale platform. Normally the stopper C is in position D and the fountain is dry. By a simple system of levers, etc., when a horse approaches to drink he is bound to get his front feet on J (that yields sufficiently to operate the mechanism, but not enough to bother or fuss a horse) which closes down stopper C and opens the valve in E, and as long as he stands there that valve is open and the water is running. When he leaves that position the water is closed off, the stopper rises, and the fountain is empty of any residue water. Each horse gets a drink of fresh, clean water and the tank is flushed after every drink. The saving of water over the continuous running tank is also an item in its favor. Plus which, it is an anti-freeze fountain. The stopper valve can be, as in most hydrants, well below freezing and a self-drainer; and there being no water left in the tank, it is a fountain that can be kept in operation all winter. And it would be a simple enough matter to so protect J that that mechanism would not necessarily fill with water and freeze.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Rape is a valuable forage plant for hogs.

Red clover makes an excellent pasture for hogs.

An old straw pile is not the worst kind of winter hog pen.

In shipping lambs, keep the culls at home or sell to local buyers.

Keep a record of each sow to determine her worth as a breeder.

Never kill a pig for market or home consumption until it is ripe or fleshy.

Hogs are among the most cleanly animals if they are given a fair chance.

Avoid an excessive amount of forage that has been more or less affected by frost.

Handle the young bear carefully. Teach him to obey the word, and to walk ahead of you.

Oil meal is greatly relished by lambs and helps greatly in the fine finish obtained in feeding.

When outdoor exercise and sunshine are lacking, the pigs should have a wide variety of feeds.

Arrange for plenty of yard room, and on all fair days keep the sheep in the open air as much as possible.

TASTY PEANUT DISHES

VARIOUS WAYS IN WHICH THE GOOBER IS COOKED.

It Makes Delicious Hash or Rolls—May Be Combined With Macaroni and With Dates.

Since peanuts are relished by most persons, are nutritious and may be readily used by themselves, and in various palatable combinations as an integral part of the diet, they have a legitimate place on the bill of fare.

In concocting peanut dishes very effective combinations can be made with other nuts, with popcorn or puffed rice. Mashed turnips or carrots can be made more tasty by stirring in a cupful of peanuts that have been through a meat grinder. Here are a number of peanut recipes that have been found highly satisfactory, says Good Housekeeping.

Peanut Hash.—Cream one tablespoonful of peanut butter with enough cold water to make a smooth paste, add three-quarters of a cupful of ground peanuts, and two cupfuls of fine chopped cooked potatoes. Mix well, then add one-half a teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, with sufficient milk or water to moisten. Melt one tablespoonful of butter in a hot frying pan, stir in the potatoes and nuts and cook, with moderate heat, until a brown crust has formed over the bottom, as in making corned beef hash. Turn out upon a platter and serve.

Peanut Rolls.—Mix and sift together two cupfuls of white flour, two cupfuls of graham or entire wheat flour, eight teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt. Dissolve half a cupful of peanut butter in one and a half cupfuls of cold water and stir into the dry ingredients. Add one cupful of chopped peanuts and roll three-fourths of an inch thick. Cut out and bake for fifteen or twenty minutes in a hot oven.

Macaroni and Peanuts.—Cook one cupful of macaroni, broken into one-inch pieces, in boiling salted water until tender; drain and pour cold water through it to separate the pieces. Then add cream sauce made with four tablespoonfuls each of butter and milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half cupful of milk, and two cupfuls of chopped peanuts. Pour into a buttered baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake until golden brown in color.

Date and Peanut Pudding.—Dates and peanuts make an exceptionally good combination. Beat two eggs well, add one cupful of granulated sugar, one cupful of peanuts finely chopped, one-third of a cupful of oil sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt. Turn into a large layer cake pan, buttered, and bake in a moderate oven about one hour. When cool turn out upon a flat serving dish, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and cover with whipped cream.

Mock Bisque Soup.—One-half cup tomatoes, two teaspoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one-half onion stuck with six cloves, sprig parsley, bit of bay leaf, three-fourths cup stock, one cup cream, four cups milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-third cup butter. Scald milk with bread crumbs, onion, parsley and bay leaf. Remove seasonings and rub through a sieve. Cook tomatoes with sugar five minutes, add soda and rub through sieve. Reheat bread and milk to boiling point, add tomatoes and pour at once into tureen over butter, salt and pepper. Serve with crisp crackers.

Steamed Beef.—Take round steak or other beef that is not too stringy, cut into half-inch dice and cook in a double boiler, nearly covered with water, two or three hours, adding salt, pepper and a small piece of butter toward the last. Take the meat and other tough portions, cut over a colander, put one quart of water in a double boiler, and let it cook slowly to extract the juices. Thicken this and pour over the meat when serving. A fine beef pie can be made by putting the meat and gravy into a baking dish and cover with a rich crust rolled about half an inch thick. Of course one could add an onion, but that flavor in this way has a delicious flavor all its own.

Onion Soup.—In any form the onion is one of our most valuable vegetables, and this soup should be taken at least once a week. Slice thinly a large Spanish onion, put it into a saucepan with one teaspoonful of salt and a few pepper corns, cover with one pint of water and simmer for twenty minutes. Press all through a colander, put one quart of milk in a double boiler, rub two tablespoonfuls of butter into same quantity of flour. Add it to the milk and stir until smooth; now add the onion, reheat and serve at once.

Mother's Easy Biscuit.—Sift one cup of flour with a pinch of salt; add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, work into it two tablespoonfuls of lard or butter and add one-half cup of milk and water, beating hard for a moment; smooth out the lumps. The dough should be only a rather stiff batter in consistency; pan and bake in a hot oven 20 or 30 minutes.

FOR THE AFTERNOON TEA

How to Make Several Kinds of Dainty Sandwiches With Sweet Fillings.

Dainty sandwiches easily prepared for afternoon tea have sweet fillings. Brown, white or rye bread, with crusts removed and sliced very thin, may be used, or the mixtures are nice on unleavened wafers or buttered crackers. A pleasant variety is to spread crisp buttered toast with the fillings instead of making in sandwich form.

A stiffly whipped cream makes a good base for many fillings. Sweeten with confectioners' sugar and stir in chopped dates and ground English walnuts; again freshly grated coconut or grated sweet chocolate melted marshmallows. Hot marshmallow fudge is an especially nice sandwich filling, especially when used on thin slices of "coffee cake."

A nice orange filling is made from a syrup of sugar and water, the grated rinds of oranges and the strained juice. Thicken with a little cornstarch. Cool and spread thickly on the bread.

Cherry butter, mixed with finely chopped peaches, makes an appetizing sandwich. Nuts are nice with any jam or preserves, and especially good with spiced fruits or Marshmallow cherries, or bananas marinated in rum.

STUFFED SPANISH ONIONS

They Are Filled With Sausage, Surrounding With Gravy, Baked and Served Hot.

Select Spanish onions. If they are not large one onion for each person may not be too much. Remove the outer layers of the skin and boil the onions in water enough to cover them until they are tender, but not until they break. Blanch them by covering them with cold water. When quite cold remove a part of the soft interior and put some sausage in its place. Place the onions side by side in a baking dish. Dredge them with pepper, salt and flour. Pour around them a gravy (the gravy left over from the chicken pie will do very well) or a sauce prepared from beef extract dissolved in a little boiling water. Add the onion (cut up), which was scooped out, to flavor it. Bake the onions for about three-quarters of an hour or until the sausage has been thoroughly cooked.

When ready for serving, put the onions on a platter, thicken the gravy with flour, strain it over the onions and serve.

American Delights.—Sure to prove a delight to the little folks are the novel dainties here given. Bake a chocolate cake mixture, and when cool scoop from it good-sized balls. Roll them in white frosting, and when set outline with melted chocolate put on with a small camel-hair brush. The results are baseballs typical of America's best-loved sport. To make the cake cream one-half cup of butter and one cup of sugar; add two well-beaten eggs. Mix separately one and two-thirds cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-third teaspoonful of cinnamon. Add to first mixture, with one-half cup of milk, one teaspoonful of vanilla, and two squares of melted chocolate. Beat well and bake thirty-five to forty minutes.—Harper's Bazar.

Instead of Potatoes.—A dietician talking with a woman who was lamenting the potatoes cut from her diet flat, advised her to substitute macaroni. As this is usually supposed to be fattening, directions for cooking it must be carefully followed.

By boiling the macaroni an hour and a half, the dietician says, the injurious ingredients are converted into a food that is nourishing, yet without starch. When used in a diet for obesity, it must not be dressed with milk, merely with a little butter, salt and pepper.

The woman thus advised ate macaroni each evening for dinner, instead of potatoes, yet lost 20 pounds in two months.

New Jar Opener.—The new jar opener operates by means of the wire loop at one end, with which it grips the cover of the jar and with a slight twist of the wrist it is opened. At the opposite end is a can opener, very sharp, strong and efficient, which has a new device of its own for clutching and cutting cans with little labor and no waste.

Oatmeal Cookies.—Take one and one-half cups flour, two and one-half cups oatmeal, one cup sugar, three-fourths cup of shortening, three-fourths cup of sour milk and one teaspoonful of soda. If butter is not used for shortening add one salt-spoonful of salt, otherwise the cookies will have a flat taste.

Snowball Custard.—Make a boiled custard of one pint of milk, yolks of three eggs, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, and a little nutmeg. Whip whites stiff, drop by spoonful on hot custard and with a spoon cover the snowballs with the custard and pour in a dish. Serve cold.

Bacon and Potato Cake.—Cut bacon into dice, fry until crisp, then add potatoes, coarsely chopped; let brown, then set in oven a few minutes to brown the top. Serve in wedge-shaped pieces.

CALIFORNIA has the Japanese condition to face, while the rest of us consider only the beautiful and altruistic theory of universal equality. One man no doubt, is as good as another, but there are racial as well as individual antipathies, and as two perfectly good men may fall to fighting just because they do not like each other, it is the part of wisdom to separate them until they have grown sufficiently in grace to dismiss their absurd and unreasoning dislike. So on the whole we are very glad that it is not our problem.

WHAT is the reason that pine and fir trees, and cypresses of the species, are surrounded, more than other trees, by ozone, and that therefore forests of the "needle-leaved" trees are so health giving? If the theory of Prof. Lemstrom, of Helsingfors, is correct, this can now be explained, for the "needles" act on the atmosphere as generators of electricity, so that the trees are always surrounded by electricity and consequently by ozone. Prof. Lemstrom began his researches in this direction by studying the uses of the spikes or "heartbeats" of grain (wheat and rye) which he found to be generators of electricity which the plant requires for its proper development.

Avoiding Typhoid Fever.

Typhoid fever is a disease of youth; although cases sometimes occur among children or middle-aged persons, the majority of sufferers are between the ages of fifteen and thirty. It is also a disease of the late summer months, and young people often fall sick with it after a long summer spent in the open air in the pursuit of health and strength. Since that is the case, parents ought to know what steps to take in order to avoid the danger of infection.

Those who can afford to go to large and well conducted hotels and boarding-houses seldom run any more risk of typhoid fever than in their own homes. Some risk there still is everywhere, although since we have found out that the disease is preventable, the risk grows less with each season.

But for reasons of economy, many people are obliged to take their families to places where the nature of typhoid, and the proper means for preventing it, are not yet well understood. Before your summer plans are definitely made, therefore, there are certain things that you should carefully look into. In the case of a popular resort, it is not difficult to find out what its typhoid record has been in the past. But the prospect of a resort rises or falls with its healthfulness and the hotel-keepers can usually be trusted to make the necessary effort to maintain proper conditions.

There is more danger in those innocent sylvan retreats that tired people dream of in the spring as necessary to their summer happiness. Quaintness is no guarantee of a clean water supply, and a clammy, vine-furnished no assurance of germless milk. The summer will pass more happily with you if you have made a careful examination of the sources from which water is got for drinking purposes, and for washing vegetables and the dishes in which milk is kept, and know that there is no reasonable cause for apprehension.

Dogs and Cats.

We always tax man's loving friend, the dog, that's faithful to the end, the hapless critter; and if the dog tax isn't paid we plant the bowwow with a spade, mid wailing bitter; we put poor Fido in the pound or see that he is promptly drowned or else beheaded; the tax unpaid, the canine race is always liable to face a fate that's dreaded. And anger burns within our slats when thinking of the way cats are always favored, for cats are wicked, sneaking brutes, with midnight vampires in cahoots, and evil savored. They prow around at night and steal, and on your rooftop squawk and squeal when you'd be sleeping; they always have some fiendish scheme to swipe the liver or the cream and set you weeping. They do not guard your home by night (in which good howlows take delight) or herd the chickens; they do not drive the cows away or work the churn or pull the sleigh, but raise the chickens. They are of no use, the silly cats, except to make a bluff at rats and a cent mouse; they should be taxed to beat the band, until they're driven from the land and from our houses. It isn't fair to put the dog on the assessor's catalogue and skip the tabby; it isn't right to tax the pup and pass the ding-donged tomcat up—such treatment's shabby.

Shooting Saturday Night.

There was considerable excitement created about 8 o'clock last Saturday night when Chris Myers shot and dangerously wounded Austin Pepper. Both are colored men, and both were drinking. It is claimed. The shooting occurred near Myers' home, next to the old cemetery, and Myers using a shot gun the lead taking effect in Pepper's head and chest, one eye being shot out and dangerous injuries inflicted to the face and body, though it is thought he will recover. An examining trial was held in police court yesterday morning, and on the evidence produced Myers was held over to the grand jury under a $500 bond, and on his failure to give same, he is in jail. The attack was not justified, from all reports.

Studebaker

"Yes Sir! Studebaker wagons are made to back up a reputation."

"I know, because wagons of every make come into my shop for repairs, and I have a chance to see how few are Studebakers."

That's the opinion of thousands of blacksmiths who know the quality of Studebaker wagons.

The owners never regretted that they bought Studebakers.

Tested materials, accurate workmanship insure a wagon unequalled for durability, and this careful selection of wood, iron, steel, paint and varnish has been a fixed rule with the Studebaker Company for sixty years. That is why a Studebaker wagon runs easiest and lasts longest. It is built on honor.

Whether you live in town or country, there is a Studebaker vehicle to fill your requirements for business or pleasure—and harness of every description made as carefully as are Studebaker vehicles.

Hon. R. Y. Thomas was here from Washington a few days this week on business.

Mr. Chas. L. Babbitt, of the Cincinnati Coffin Co. was here on business round the latter part of the week.

Autos are getting to the noisy, wheezy, junky stage already, and the absorbing question now is "Who will get the first aeroplane?"

The first examination of teachers was held at the college building last Friday and Saturday, about forty teachers taking the test.

Mr. W. A. McDonald, of Central City, was here Monday on business. He has recently returned from a six-week tour, including a visit to the Panama canal.

Mrs. Bolling Holt and little daughter, Louise Loring, and Mrs. J. Morris Jones, of Montgomery, Ala., are visiting Mrs. J. H. Bohannon.

Sunrise prayer meetings are being held at the Methodist church all week, preceding the protracted revival which is to be started next Sunday.

Coal Lands Wanted.
We have clients who want to buy Western Kentucky Coal from 10,000 acres up to 500,000 acres.
W. O. Headlee,
Waynesburg, Greene Co. Pa.

Mr. W. A. Wickliffe, arrived Saturday with a Westcott 6-cylinder auto, driving it through from the Indiana factory. It is a fine car, one of the best in the country, and attracts much favorable comment.

Mr. A. E. McCracken, watchmaker and jeweler, now has the most up-to-date shop equipment to be found anywhere, and will at once install modern fixtures and put in a full line of watches, jewelry and art objects.

The auto is surely taking the place of the horse here.

See Mc for watch repair work.

Mr. Frank Green was here from Drakesboro Monday on business affairs.

Miss Lula Clemmons was here from Depoy with relatives a few days during the week.

The court room was crowded last Friday night by an audience of town and country people who enjoyed the commencement exercises of the high school.

Miss Mamie Hay is the first local contestant to appear on the honor roll in the Courier-Journal-Times book contest. She had 75 correct answers, with 633 titles used, and will doubtless share in the distribution of prizes.

Revival Services to Commence at Methodist Church Next Sunday.

There will be a series of revival services begun at the Methodist church next Sunday. Rev. Pat Davis, the well known evangelist, will be here, and his work has been extremely successful in all parts of the country. The music will be a special feature, and everyone is invited to attend the services and lend fullest aid.

Kentucky cities are getting ready for their season of Chautauqua, the second. Last year the attendance was surprisingly large, encouraging a repetition, and this year promises better results. The attractions are of the higher order, and include the best musical organizations, lecturers, singers, etc.

Geo. A. Gibel Dies Suddenly.

Mr. Geo. A. Gibel, in his 70th year, was found dead in bed at his home near Depoy early last Thursday morning. Mr. Gibel had been an unusually vigorous man, had never been ill, and had never summoned a doctor to see him during his long life. He was in apparent health, but while doing some light labor Wednesday evening remarked that he was short of breath, but did not complain, and sat up until about 9 o'clock reading his papers; nothing unusual was heard from his room during the night, and when found his eyes were closed, and the body covered, indicating no movement, and it is supposed that death was caused by an apoplectic stroke. There were few better known men in the county than George Gibel, and none who had more friends, his good cheer and unusual cordiality winning and holding everyone. His widow and seven children, one girl and six boys survive. Interment was in the Luckett graveyard, near his home, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, with full Masonic rites, and there was an immense crowd in attendance. Rev. G. P. Dillon conducted the funeral service at the home preceding burial. The county has lost one of its best men.

Temperance Hall Demolished.

Temperance Hall, a building erected here about 1870, on the site now occupied by the Presbyterian church, and moved to the Weir farm about 1878 where it was again put up, was last week torn down. While on the farm it was used as a barn and a storage for feed. There were many rousing meetings held in the building while used as a hall and its passing will be a matter of regret to many of our older citizens.

Robert's "History of Muhlenberg County" to be Out July 1.

Mr. Otto A. Robert's book "A History of Muhlenberg County," is promised from the publishers by July 1. There has been a very gratifying number of advance subscriptions secured, and a wide sale of the work will undoubtedly be made, as people here and hundreds who have formerly resided in the county will want this book, which is the best history ever written of a county in Kentucky.

Local Girl Graduate Nurse.

Miss Minnie Poag, of this city, was among the trained nurses graduated last week at Hopkinsville, she having completed her three year course at Western Kentucky Asylum. This is the first institution of the kind in America to adopt this course, and alienists everywhere are closely watching the results. Miss Poag has many friends here who are pleased at her success as she graduated at the top of her class.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roark are spending a few days with Dr. J. M. Stuart and family in Owensboro, and Mr. Roark is attending the meetings of the Shriners.

Christian Church Being Built.

Work has been started on the new Christian church, corner Main-cross and College streets, and will be of monolithic concrete construction, and is being built by the Green-Marks Concrete Co. This will be the first church ever erected here by this denomination, but there are quite a number of members of this faith in the city, and they will support the institution.

Greenville people, as in all things, appear to be a little slow in adopting the automobile, but now we have more handsome cars than any other town around, and more are to come. There are now 16 cars in the city.

Weather Reports By Telephone.

Mr. G. C. Morgan, local manager of the Cumberland Telephone Co., has secured the reports of the weather bureau, for the benefit of subscribers. The reports are received about 10 o'clock each morning, and are given to rural subscribers. Others may get the information by calling the chief operator. This is a very important matter, and Mr. Morgan and the company are being complimented on providing it for the public.

Victors and Records at Roark's.

Telephone No 5 and your laundry will be called for and delivered.

Let Mac fix your clock—or watch, or jewelry. All work guaranteed.

Annual Masonic Banquet Tonight.

Masons of Pond River Lodge No. 244, with their wives, members of the Eastern Star and invited guests, will enjoy the annual reunion at the hall tonight. There will be music, singing, talks, and refreshments will be served. Following is the program:

Invocation, Rev. G. P. Dillon.

The Epileptic Child

It is a tragic moment when parents realize that one of their children is an epileptic; it is even more tragic if to the child's misfortune is added any lack of kindness or judgment on the part of his parents.

In this disorder certain parts of the brain are affected, and although there are many types of epileptics, some of whom are unusually clever, and others inordinately stupid, it must not be forgotten that they are all abnormal.

Since the types vary so widely, the proper treatment and discipline must vary also. Each child must be dealt with according to his individual peculiarities. The most usual mistake that parents make is to abandon discipline altogether, and let the child run wild. They do so in the hope that the attacks will occur less frequently; but they ought to remember that the victim of epilepsy needs more than most people the self-control and the good habits that only wise discipline in early life can establish.

Some slow-minded epileptic children are nervously conscientious and painstaking. Those it is well to watch and encourage, but usually it is best to hold them back in their efforts to keep pace with normal children.

Others, again, are unusually quick-witted and alert, and their talents sometimes permit them to outstrip their schoolmates, by proving that "there is nothing the matter with them." But even in the cleverness of such children there is something morbid and ill-balanced, and it is wiser to restrain and quiet them than to let them excite themselves in competition with their fellows.

With epileptics, a life that is led much in the open air, with some quiet occupation, such as gardening or poultry-raising, is a good preparation for adult life, and helps to give the long hours of sleep and digestion that are so necessary.

The care of the digestion is most important in epilepsy. An error in diet is almost certain to bring on an attack, and it is usual to find that epileptics have poor digestions. Their food should be simple, and moderate in amount, and it is an excellent plan to establish the habit of slow eating in childhood.

Mr. W. G. Duncan has received his new Premier automobile, a 6-cylinder car. It is specially fitted with all modern conveniences, and one of the handsomest cars in this part of the state.

The most unique and appealing campaign card that has been issued is being presented to the voters by Mr. Leo Fentress, of Central City, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the county court clerkship. It is headed "7 Reasons Why," and the above seven children, ranging in ages from 9 months to 9 years, are shown. There are six girls and one boy. The mother of the children was Miss Jennie Offutt, daughter of the late Davis Offutt, and was born near Greenville. Mr. Fentress is also a Muhlenberger, having been born near South Carrollton. He is making an active canvass, and is meeting with universal encouragement, and if the people should favor him with their affairs, coming under the important office, they could rest assured of most courteous treatment and faithful performance of duty.

TAXPAYERS URGE GOOD ROADS

Representatives of Both Town and Country Vote in Favor of Tax to Create a State Fund.

There never has been in the past so much discontent over the discomfort of traveling over bad roads as there is at the present time. With it well known that the building of hard roads in communities where there is no hard material must involve an enormous expense, yet more and more taxpayers are expressing a willingness to be taxed for permanent roads. This was plainly indicated at a road conference held in Des Moines, Ia., where 200 delegates composed of typical representatives of both town and country voted unanimously in favor of a one-cent tax to create a state aid fund, says the Iowa Home-Steader. In the past the best that Iowa has been able to do along this line has been to support a non-salaried highway commission with but little power and with practically no money to work with.

This same conference endorsed almost unanimously the establishment of a permanent highway commission with ample power. In addition a recommendation was made to the legislature to submit the question of building the state for good roads purposes to the people at the next general election.

We appreciate the fact that this program is not endorsed by all the people and it is just possible that at the present time it may not meet with the endorsement of even a majority, but the rapidly changing feeling indicates that the time will soon come when all states of the corn belt will undertake the construction of permanent roads. This being the case the question of administration in the important one to decide. In this matter there are established precedents which may be safely followed and these precedents in every case tend in a greater or less degree to centralization. In other words, wherever good roads have been economically built in this country they have been built under the general supervision of the state under a plan of coordination with the county and with the township. No plan will every work out practically in the corn belt that does not in a large way leave with the locality the authority to say when they are willing to bear the expense of good roads. When it is decided to incur the expense of building permanent roads the township, county and state will as units find themselves compelled through the operation of a sound business principle to adopt plans and specifications prepared by the best available talent, whether this be furnished by the nation or by the state.

The most urgent need at the present time in all states of the corn belt is the classification of highways in order that the question for all time may be settled as to what constitutes main roads and which are the secondary highways. This recommendation was made to the legislature at the Iowa road conference referred to. When this plan is once carried out we will then know definitely the order in which our roads should be permanently improved. It is a well-known fact that 50 per cent. of the rural traffic is carried on over 10 per cent. of the highways and certainly the first move should be to improve this ten per cent. In the meantime we are strongly in favor of keeping the secondary roads in the best possible condition by the construction of suitable culverts wherever they are needed and by the sensible and compulsory use of the drag. There will always be large and important township and county duties so that no man need have fear that the adoption of permanent road administration will in any way interfere with the principle of local government.

BIG DISAPPOINTMENT IN OHIO

Buckeye State Failed to Pass Appropriation of $20,000,000 to Improve Its Roads.

The greatest disappointment of last year was the veto of Ohio on the constitutional amendment to authorize the general assembly to issue bonds of the state in an amount not to exceed $20,000,000 for the purpose of constructing and maintaining an inter-county system of wagon roads. The vote was: for, 272,527; against, 274,618; majority against, 2,091. This close vote was all the more unfortunate, because the issue was not decided on its merits. Forty-two amendments were offered and in the zeal to defeat some of them, thousands of voters overlooked the fact that the vote in favor was as large as it was. But it is a shock to find that such a state of Ohio out of 1,275,000 qualified voters less than 600,000 took the trouble to go to the polls to vote on constitutional amendments and not all of these paid any attention to good roads.
